ST. THOMAS LAW TRIAL TEAM WINS “BEST CLOSING” TEAM AT NOVA

The St. Thomas Law Trial Team won the Nova Closing Argument “Mock Madness” Competition held on March 25 and 26, 2012. This is the fourth year in a row that the St. Thomas Law Trial Team has won Best Team at the Competition. In addition, Sean Ford took home 1st place in the competition, earning the “Best Closer” award in the Mock Madness Closing Argument. This is the third time the St. Thomas Trial has won Best Closer in the last four years. The final round was a head-to-head battle with St. Thomas Law Teammate Ian Ward who took home 2nd place in the competition.

MEDIA AND LAW SYMPOSIUM TO BE HOSTED AT ST. THOMAS LAW

On March 30, the St. Thomas Law Review and the Daily Business Review will host a symposium titled Media and the Law: Adjusting Trial Strategy in Light of Media Portrayal and Public Perception. The symposium will focus on how judges, litigants, and members of the media face an increasing number of challenges regarding public influences and potential jury misconduct as technology advances. Tickets are $25; the program runs from 9:00 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. and include breakfast, lunch, and an evening reception. Credits for Continuing Legal Education are pending approval with the Florida Bar.

The luncheon will feature keynote speaker Professor Charles Nesson, Weld Professor of Law at Harvard Law School and Founder and Faculty Director of the Berkman Center for Internet and Society. Professor Nesson will discuss the use of the internet in the courtroom.

The symposium will also include three panels and will be moderated by Benedict P. Kuehne of the Law Offices of Benedict P. Kuehne, P.A. Each panel will be comprised of three to four members of the legal profession who have faced challenges in their handling of high-profile cases as a result of media coverage and exposure, and members of the media who inform the public of such cases.

FACULTY ANNOUNCEMENTS

On March 6, 2012, at the American Society for Public Administration’s Annual Conference in Las Vegas, Nevada, Professors Alfred Light and Keith Rizzardi joined two senior officials from the National Marine Fisheries Service to host a “best practices workshop” on the use of social media by federal advisory committees. The presentations surveyed the language of the Federal Advisory Committee Act and the challenges presented by public access to FACA committees, and then explored the specific social media tools used by federal administrators and communications officers to fulfill FACA’s public access goals. Professors Light and Rizzardi also took the opportunity to introduce many governmental and academic attendees of the ASPA Conference to the Environmental Sustainability LLM Program at St. Thomas University.

On March 8, 2012, Professor Roza Pati was the keynote speaker at the University of Dayton’s Consciousness Rising - an annual social justice convention that raises interdisciplinary awareness about human trafficking and empowers students to learn about real world issues, work toward practical solutions, and serve one another as civically engaged citizens. At Sears Recital Hall, 200 students and faculty attended Professor Pati’s keynote address, titled Law, Policy, and Politics of Human Trafficking — and the Clarion Call to End It. Questions and answers followed.

JEWISH LAW STUDENT ASSOCIATION PASSOVER SEDER

The St. Thomas Law National Jewish Law Student Association (JLSA) will be holding its annual Passover Seder on Monday, April 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Presidential Dining Room. This room is in the same building as the undergrad cafeteria and the bookstore. A rabbi will participate to teach and discuss the traditions of Passover. All students and faculty are welcome to attend. Any questions should be submitted to Aaron Gray (agray@stu.edu).
